Hepatitis A Vaccination

What is Hepatitis A?

Hepatitis A is a contagious liver disease that results from infection with the Hepatitis A virus. It can range from a mild illness lasting a few weeks to a severe illness lasting several months. It may be caused by toxins, certain drugs, some diseases, heavy alcohol use, and bacterial or viral infections.

How does Hepatitis A spread?

Hepatitis A is usually spread when a person ingests fecal matter from contact with objects, food, or drinks contaminated by the feces or stool of an infected person.

An infected person does not wash his or her hands properly after going to the bathroom and touches other objects or food. This is why the City of St. Louis Department of Health requires all restaurant employees to be vaccinated. A parent or caregiver does not properly wash his or her hands after changing diapers or cleaning up the stool of an infected person

What are the symptoms?

Some people with Hepatitis A do not have symptoms. If there are symptoms they may include: fever, fatigue, loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, abdominal pain, dark urine, clay-colored bowel movements, joint pain, and jaundice (yellowing of the skin or eyes). If symptoms occur, they usually appear anywhere from 2-6 weeks after exposure. Symptoms usually last less than 2 months, although some people can be ill for as long as 6 months.

How do you treat Hepatitis A?

There is no specific medicine to treat or cure hepatitis A. If you have the virus, you should get plenty of rest, eat a balanced diet and avoid alcohol and acetaminophen (one brand: Tylenol). Both alcohol and medicines like acetaminophen are broken down by the liver and may increase the speed of liver damage in people who have hepatitis. You may need to stay in the hospital for a short time if you get dehydrated, have severe pain, suddenly become confused or develop bleeding problems.

The best way to prevent Hepatitis A is to get vaccinated!

Vaccine is series of 2 shots - 6 months apart

DO NOT LET UNPAID BILLS ACCUMULATE. SEEK HELP EARLY!

- Call a social service agency in your area to see if they have an assistance program, such as your church, the Catholic Church; Salvation Army or United Way. Call them weekly or as suggested.
- Understand how and why you were short this month.
- See if you qualify for additional services, such as area Food Pantries. This may free up money for rent and utilities.

When you require assistance, most agencies will need:

- Proof of income and monthly expenses
- Proof of address, such as Photo ID and copy of current bill.

TIPS:

- PLAN AHEAD. Consider budget billing and ask utility companies if you qualify for any low-income or special programs.
- Pay your bills on time to avoid late fees.
- In the summer, set your thermostat as high as comfortably possible. The less difference between the indoor and outdoor temperatures, the lower your overall cooling bill will be. Try setting it at 78°.
- Using fans can help create an air flow that will make your home more comfortable. If you use an air conditioner, a ceiling fan will allow you to raise the thermostat setting about 4° with no reduction in your comfort.
- If your air conditioner is old, consider purchasing a new, energy-efficient model. You could save up to 50% on your utility bill for cooling. Look for the ENERGY STAR® and Energy Guide labels.
- Limit the use of your oven in the summer months. Use lids when cooking.
- Don't place lamps or TV sets near your air-conditioning thermostat. The thermostat senses heat from these appliances, which can cause the air conditioner to run longer than necessary.
- While running the air conditioner, keep the window coverings closed during the day to keep out direct sunlight.
- In the winter, keep the draperies and shades on your south facing windows open during the day to allow the sunlight to enter your home and closed at night to reduce the chill you may feel from cold windows.
- In the winter, set your thermostat as low as is comfortable when home. By resetting your programmable thermostat from 72 degrees to 65 degrees for eight hours a day (for instance, while no one is home or while everyone is tucked in bed) you can cut your heating bill by up to 10 percent.
- Weatherize your home - caulk and weather-strip any doors and windows that leak air. In the winter, use heavy plastic on windows to keep out drafts.
- Replace furnace filters regularly. Keep equipment clean.
- Turn off your computer and monitor when not in use.
- Consider air-drying clothes on clothes lines or drying racks.
- Lower your water heater's thermostat to WARM/LOW or set at 120°. Your water heater accounts for 14% of your utility bill.
- Clean the lint filter in the dryer after every load. Periodically inspect your dryer vent to ensure it is not blocked.
- Consider a simple budget for your household. Evaluate expenses and set priorities. (Examples: Free TV vs. Cable or Satellite; one telephone line vs. land-line AND cell phone)
